Meeting Topic: Of Mushrooms and Mines: Mycelial Filtration Pilot Project at Elkhorn Mine

Presented by: Cliff Bradley, CEO and Egan Jankowski-Bradley, Lab Manager
Montana BioAgriculture, Inc.

Background: BHWC is working with Montana BioAgriculture Inc. (MBAI) to design and install a pilot bio-absorbent mycelial (i.e., mushroom) filtration system to treat acid mine drainage seeping out of the 1000' adit (horizontal mine shaft) at Elkhorn Mine. In April, we visited MBAI's lab in Missoula to review the latest milestones. Initial results indicate that the metals in the AMD from the historic Elkhorn Mine are binding to the Rhizopus fungal culture (i.e., the mycelial mass), and water is coming out clean after several cycles through the filter! MBAI will continue to refine the lab study in order to install an on-site filtration system later this summer.
