Meeting Topic: High Meadow Water Storage:

Top 5 Projects and How to Collect a Big Hole Resource Site Survey with Survey123

Presented by: Noah Dowler, Madelyn Hanson, Simon Shepherd, and Cora Johnson

Background: Throughout the summer, BHWC's Watershed Field Crew camped in remote alpine meadows, conducting Rapid Assessments to evaluate each site's potential to increase natural water storage through restoration. Their work builds upon a YEAR water storage modeling study completed by WGM Group and funded through a Montana DNRC planning grant. By ground-truthing the model's findings with on-the-ground observations, the technicians have helped identify the most promising opportunities for future restoration efforts that can improve late-season streamflows, enhance habitat, and increase resilience to drought.
